

2015 and two day strike on 19th and 20th November 2015. These strike dates have been decided keeping in view the festivals, holidays and elections during this period. The Joint Front decided to meet again on 29th November 2015 at Nagpur to decide further programs including total confrontation if the situation so warrants. The agitation of 'No Work after office hours' as decided earlier will continue. The program of action culminating into strike action is given below:

Lunch Hour Demonstrations : 6th & 13th October, 2015
One Day Strike : 14th October, 2015
Lunch Hour Demonstrations : 16th & 18th November, 2015
Two Days Strike : 19th & 20th November, 2015

We request all officers and employees to support the program of agitation and make all preparations to successfully carryout the above programme. The Joint Front is confident that the present stalemate can be broken through struggles and success will come our way to secure a good wage revision and another pension option.

(Please note that NFIFWI while extending their full support to the above programme has expressed their inability to participate in Strike action due to their organizational constraints. However, they will participate in all other action programs as part of Joint Forum).
